SHE'S WELL EDUCATED.

A Woman Who Has Learned Entirely by Careful Listening.

The wonderful development of certain faculties in the cases of persons who have lost the use of some of their natural functions, or of others whose faculties have not been fully developed, has long been a matter of remark, but it is not alone the outside observers who appreciate the provisions of nature for the benefit of the unfortunate. The sufferers themselves often appreciate this fully, and in some instances, after years, grow to depend so much upon their acquired faculties as to be afraid of a change, even if they have the chance of one.

An illustration of this is given by a woman in Brooklyn who never has learned to read or write. In no way could one discover this except by her own admission, or by putting her to a direct test for she is one of the best educated women in the country, conversant with languages, art, literature and all the current topics of the day. She is rich, too, and could afford all the services of the best teachers if she but chose to learn to read, but she refuses to do so.

When this woman was a child, her parents lived far from schools, so she had no chance then to learn to read or write. As a mere child she began to earn her own living, and again the chance for schooling slipped away. Then she married and the cares of a family took up her time. By the time the babies were off her hands, her husband had grown rich, and then she began her real education, and now, as a widow, she continues it. Her companions read to her and talk with her about all the topics which interest her. Years of school work have stored her mind with a rich treasure of knowledge, and there is not a page of a book that has been read to her that she is not familiar with. Her stores of knowledge are at her instant command. Why will she not learn to read? Because she says, she fears that this wonderful memory, which is now such a treasure house to her, might be impaired if she were to do anything to weaken the demands upon it.

What such a memory can do is well illustrated in the case of a tailor of this city who cannot read or write. He is probably the most widely known man in his business here, as for many years he has done business with New York's firemen and policemen. Almost every man of these two bodies has dealings with him, and he is a familiar name to all. He is the first and the tenth day he visits every station house and engine and truck house in this city to collect his dues. He has acquired considerable wealth, and it is said of him that in all the years he has dealt with the firemen and policemen he never was known to make a mistake of a cent in any man's account, although all his records of transactions have been kept in his head.

WHEN GRANT WAS POOR.

A Time in His Career When He Needed the Wherewithal.

General W. H. L. Barnes, one of the leaders of the San Francisco bar, at a meeting of the California commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, told the following story about General Grant. It was told years ago to General Barnes by Captain Richard L. Ogden, once a clerk in the office of the United States quartermaster at San Francisco, and General Barnes recently copied it from Captain Ogden's diary.

It was that when Grant resigned his commission as captain, at the age of 32, being then in Oregon, he went to San Francisco on his way home and presented to Captain Ogden a certificate of per diem service on a court martial amounting to about $10. The certificate was incorrectly drawn, and Grant with a look of despair asked Captain Ogden's permission to sleep on the lounge in the latter's office, saying he had not a cent to his name. He slept on the rickety office lounge, and Ogden agreed to cash the certificate personally and to send it back to Oregon for correction. Grant had expected to buy passage for himself to New York in the steamer, but Ogden went with him to the Pacific Mail steamship office and procured for him a cabin passage pass, or what was the nearest to it the steamship company could give, for Grant had to pay his railroad fare across the isthmus. This, however, left him $15, and Grant was very grateful.

The diary quotes him as saying to Captain Ogden: "This is a great luxury and what I did not expect, and I am indebted to you for it. The prospect of ever being able to reciprocate is certainly remote, but strange things happen in this world, and there is no knowing."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

HIGH WATER AGAIN.

The People of Cincinnati Fear Another Flood.

MERCHANTS PREPARING TO MOVE.

They Fear the Lower Business Streets Will Be Overlaid—A Heavy Rain Causing the Tributaries of the Ohio River to Rise.

CINCINNATI, March 10.—The flood situation here has become alarming. A thunderstorm north and east of Cincinnati, only a salvage of which passed over this city, added three-fourths of an inch to the rainfall here in less than an hour. Captain Bassler of the United States signal service says: "The storm is now central over the lake region and an area of low pressure extends from Arkansas clear over the entire Ohio valley. All streams south of the Ohio are teeming full and the situation is altogether discouraging."

This put an alarming phase on the situation in view of the widespread destruction of the late flood probably to be followed by a greater. Reports from the White river region of Southern Indiana and from Washington, Connecticut, O., are that railroad communication is still greatly interrupted and in some places cut off entirely. News from the headwaters of the Kanawha and the Monongahela thus far is encouraging, but from the signal service report there is reason to fear that all this will be changed.

At midnight the river here was 46 feet 3 inches—15 inches above the danger line—and rising 5 inches an hour. Merchants in the lowlands are preparing to move their goods out of danger and draining the news the wires may bring from West Virginia.

GREAT WORK OF WOOD.

He Continues to Beat His Competitors in the Race of Disadvantage.

CLEVELAND, March 10.—Frank Walker, the "Flying Dutchman," is suffering from blood poisoning in his foot and probably will not appear again in the six-day bicycle race. He suffered agony all last evening, but would not give up until he had to.

Gimm and Schoch stated that they would not go on unless the three laps allowed Wood for his fall, when he was fouled by Gifford, were taken away from him. Referee Canary would not listen to any such proposition, and the race would have been practically broken in hand. Wood said he would go on, but one lap ahead of Schoch and Gifford. This was agreed to.

After five hours' riding Wood went out alone and easily gained back his lap ahead of Gimm and Schoch, and everyone else on the track. He went out again two minutes before the finish and gained a lap on Gifford and Ashinger, and was half a lap in advance of Gimm, Schoch and Dench at the close, which, however, counts him nothing. The score:

Wood, 226 miles 1 lap; Gimm, 226 miles; Schoch, 225 miles 14 laps; Gifford, 225 miles 13 laps; Ashinger, 224 miles 10 laps; Dench, 213 miles 6 laps; Walker, 114 miles 14 laps.

A WOMAN'S STRANGE CHARGE.

Says Her Father-in-Law Filled Her Mouth With Plaster of Paris.

CLEVELAND, March 10.—Nellie A. Gilbert, wife of Dr. Frederick Gilbert, has told a remarkable story in a petition filed in court here. The young woman brought suit against her husband's father, Dr. G. H. Gilbert, for $30,000 damages for the alienation of her husband's affections, and for $30,000 for an assault alleged to have been committed on her by her father-in-law.

The alleged assault, which she declares was committed by Dr. C. H. Gilbert, consisted of filling her mouth with wet plaster of paris and permitting the substance to harden, thus preventing her from talking. She alleges that she was found by her brother in an unconscious condition with the plaster in her mouth and it was necessary to use a hammer to break the plaster before it could be taken from her mouth.

The allegation as to the alienation of her husband's affections consists of a charge to the effect that Dr. G. H. Gilbert offered his son $40,000 and his practice if he would desert her and get rid of his wife. The Gilberts are prominent people on the South Side, and the young man and his wife recently figured in a sensation of which these suits are the outcome.

UBERLIN RIDER A SURPRISE.

He Shows Up Well in the Cleveland Bicycle Race.

CLEVELAND, March 9.—Louis Gimm, Albert Schoch, Frank Walker, George Dench, Ed. Gifford, Charles Ashinger and Harry Wood are in the six days' bicycle race at the Central armory here. The racers are to contest five and a half hours each day up to Saturday, beginning at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and riding until 10. On Saturday they will start at 2:30 and the finish of the race will be at 10:30 Saturday evening. The will make 36 hours in all. The gate receipts will be divided between the riders. The 15 lap track was not wide enough to start all of them on the tape, so three were sent away in front, with the remaining four following.

Wood developed a decided surprise in Harry Wood, the Oberlin rider, a novice at six-days' racing. At the start Ashinger, through a remarkable series of accidents, lost over a mile. Gifford, Dench and Wood went out and gained a lap on Schoch, Gimm and Walker. Wood went right on for another, and this time Gimm stayed with him. This put Wood a lap ahead of Gimm, Gifford and Dench and two laps ahead of Walker and Schoch.

Later Gifford fouled Wood in a brush, giving him a terrible fall, for which Gifford was fined a lap. Wood pluckily remounted within the three-laps allowance. No more laps were gained by anyone and Wood won out at the finish, Gifford and Gimm being unable to pass him, though they tried hard. Dench was taken sick and went off the track for half an hour, leaving him a bad seventh. Following are the scores at the close:

Wood, 115 miles 1 lap; Gimm, 115 miles; Gifford, 114 miles 14 laps; Walker, 114 miles 14 laps; Schoch, 114 miles 14 laps; Ashinger, 113 miles 12 laps; Dench, 102 miles 7 laps.

LEXOW'S REPORT ON TRUSTS.

A Line of Action Suggested—Immunity For Witnesses Wanted.

ALBANY, March 10.—The report of the joint committee on trusts, which held several sessions in New York city last month, has been submitted to the legislature. It notes the fact that a decision of Judge Swayne on the federal constitution forbids action on the part of an individual state to absolutely repress trusts, but the committee expresses the belief that the attorney general, by bringing action before a supreme court judge, in some respects remedy existing evils. A bill, which accompanies the report, grants immunity to witnesses in cases where they themselves and gives the supreme court the subpoena power.

A bill may be introduced to stop the factor system as it is used by the sugar trust.

A SHOSHONE CHIEF DYING.

His Death May Result in an Indian Outbreak.

FORT WASHAKIE, Wyo., March 10.—Chief Washakie, the noted head of the Shoshone Indians, is dying.

The chief is 53 years old and has spent the most of his time this winter in the hospital at Fort Hecouly. He sent for Rev. John Roberts and, at his request, was baptized.

Chief Washakie has been a great friend of the whites and has on many occasions prevented his young warriors from going out on raids and fighting the soldiers. It is feared that in case of the chief's death there will be some trouble in preventing these young bucks from carrying out their long cherished desire to make war of extermination on their old enemies, the Arapahoes, who occupy the same reservation.

TO HONOR MCKINLEY.

Diplomatic Corps Will Call on Him Tomorrow.

THE PRESIDENT TOOK A WALK.

Previous to This He Gave a Public Reception—Saw His Mother Off to Mt. Vernon—Cabinet Officers Conferred With Him—Many Visitors.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—It has been arranged that the entire diplomatic corps shall be received by the president next Wednesday at noon. The corps first will pay their respects to Secretary Sherman at the state department at 11 o'clock and then will march across to the White House.

The president held a public reception at 3 o'clock in the east room yesterday afternoon, shaking the hands of over 1,000 people in about 30 minutes. In the long line was a little girl dressed as the Goddess of Liberty.

On returning to his office the members of the interstate commerce commission called in a body.

The chief justice and Mrs. Fuller made a social call late in the day, the president leaving his office to join Mrs. McKinley in receiving the callers. The chief justices of the court of claims also were received in the private parlors.

At 4:45 the president, accompanied by Secretary Porter, started for a walk along the avenues. This time he turned up Madison place, passing the Arlington and then went out Vermont avenue. He was stopped once or twice by persistent handshakers, but seemed not to be annoyed. It was a pleasant walk in the sunshine and after enjoying it for half an hour the president returned by way of the gardens in the rear of the executive mansion.

The president was at his desk early in the day, after seeing his mother off to Mt. Vernon.

One of the first callers was Mr. John Hay, who, it is expected, will be nominated as ambassador to the court of St. James. He had a brief talk with the president and then gave way to Senator Wolcott of Colorado, who saw the president for the first time since his return from Europe in connection with the international bimetallic conference. The call lasted 15 minutes, and is understood to have given opportunity for a brief talk on Mr. Wolcott's mission. Then followed a number of prominent senators and congressmen, among them Grosvener of Ohio.
